

POWRX launches in UK

AFTER five years of successful trading in Europe, the German brand POWRX – a European leader in engineering and manufacturing of vibration plates – finally launches in the UK.

At POWRX it is ingrained into the ethos that not only a reliable product is delivered, but also that each POWRX vibration plate purchased is designed to achieve the desired health and fitness goals of the customer.

The entire POWRX UK team consists of highly experienced exercise specialists who understand the expectations and needs of a personal and /or professional set up. With that expert consultations and specific product recommendations are no guess work.

POWRX boasts a wide selection of vibration plates, including its latest most innovative addition, the POWRX G-PLATE with air suspension, all featuring vertical vibration and a unique DPS (dual power suspension) system.

POWRX caters to the personal/home user as well as the professional/ commercial market. Complete packages to the commercial customer include installation, extensive warranties, service/ repair engineer management, as well as on-site training and marketing assistance.

We welcome all enquiries.
